

How stable is each per-sound quantity? Higher = more reliable across participants

